(By H. C.)

The United States has about decided never to go to war. There is really no pressing reason why it should. One person is killed in that country every 45 minutes and that does not include automobile fatalities which are estimated at one every 20 minutes.

The canning industry is picking up. Prof. McLennan reports a discovery by which radium rays can be stored. You can then go into the drug store and order "A can of radium rays, please."

It has always been a moot question whether children should be given home-work. It ought to be answered now in the negative. What reason there may have been for haste in getting through the public school in the past can not exist now that children, especially boys, are faced with the more serious problem "Where do we go from here?" Industry itself, is moving toward school time—a six-hour day and five-day week. That, when it comes, may spread out labor more generally, but in the meantime home-work for children may well be abolished even if it adds a year or two to the public school term. Teachers alone will instruct the children without the aid of parents. Children in favor please hold up their hands. Carried unanimously.

Germany under Nazi rule does not appear to be afraid of anything, or anybody. One would think it would hesitate to antagonize Switzerland, small as it is, at a time when it resumes its usual talk of encirclement, yet the Nazis kidnapped (they use the word lured) a Swiss journalist across the border to put him in a German prison. That starts a correspondence, Switzerland sends Germany a note of protest, Germany replies, and the exchange of notes is still going on. A similar exchange of notes is going on between Germany and Lithuania where Nazi spies were arrested. Hitler protests his desire for peace, while increasing the list of countries with which peace must be preserved.

He told Sir John Simon he has no desire to match Britain's naval strength. That was an olive branch. He told him that Germany has an air-strength equal to Britain's. That was a hint and a warning. He told him also that but for Germany, bolshevism would have swept over France and Britain. That was a friendly gesture, to two countries that are more fearful now of German militarism than of Russian bolshevism. His interview with Sir John Simon and Capt. Anthony Eden was a fifty-fifty mixture of peaceful gesture and implied threat that left them nothing to bring home but an uneasy feeling that they had visited a volcano and heard the rumblings of an impending eruption.

While devising a measure to take profits out of war, the United States learned this: In 1914, the year the Great War broke out, there were 60 men in that country with an income of over a million dollars each. In 1915 there were 206. In 1917, that country came into the war and the number dropped to 141, and in 1918 it dropped to 67. What moral it teaches we don't know, except that there is more money to be made when others are fighting than when we are ourselves involved, but no such profits can come to neutrals again until the belligerents improve their financial position so they they can pay for what they buy abroad.

Charges Made at Annual School District Meeting are Discredited

School Board and Contractor Given Vote of Confidence by Ratepayers; Heated Discussion Heard at Adjourned Ratepayers' Meeting

Charges made at the annual meeting of the Vulcan School District No. 1902 with regard to the installation of the heating system in the new school building were discredited at the adjourned meeting of ratepayers held in the Odd Fellows' hall on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Two weeks ago a special meeting of the ratepayers of the school district was held to hear the reports of the committee to investigate the charges made at the annual meeting. At that time the reports were not ready, so the meeting was adjourned until last Wednesday. About seventy-five attended the meeting, many rural ratepayers being present. D. D. McQueen again acted as secretary and W. D. Allan as chairman.

Instead of one report from the investigating committee as a whole, two were read, one from Messrs. Carson and Brown and the other from L. H. Stack, K.C. Mr. Stack, in a letter to the secretary regretted that he was unable to join in the report of the other members of the committee, but set out his reasons briefly in his report. The two reports were then read to the ratepayers.

Both reports were lengthy, and much correspondence between the committee and various heating contractors was read. The report made by Mr. Stack revealed that the committee had held three meetings, one at the school to inspect the plant, one at the office of the secretary to inspect the documents pertaining to the erection of the school, the third meeting was held at the office of Dr. Carson. In the report Mr. Stack told of the interviews he held with the building contractor and heating experts. After making a complete and thorough investigation he summed his findings up, as follows: That the cost of the heating plant was not excessive but on the contrary was under the average cost for such a heating plant; that the building could not have been satisfactorily heated with one large furnace at a smaller cost; that the cost of heating with the one large furnace would exceed the cost of the two furnaces installed; that the two furnaces installed were more economical from a fuel standpoint than that of one large furnace; that the life and efficiency of the two will be much longer than that of one large one; that the School Board exercised due care in determining the most suitable kind of heating plant as well as the cost, and that they performed their duties in a careful and efficient manner. Other findings gave the prices of heating contractors and engineers, showing that the price paid was not excessive.

Letters were read from F. Neilson and Sons, Heating Contractors, Calgary; Free Sheet Metal Works, Lethbridge; J. K. McCallan, Heating Engineer, Winnipeg; and T. C. Fleming, Branch Manager of Clare Bros. Correspondence from members of the committee leading up to the above letters was also read.

Dr. Carson, chairman of the committee, then read his joint report, compiled with Mr. Robert Brown. Summary of the report read: Stated that the tenders for the erection of the school or for the heating were not called for in the usual way, by advertising; that sufficient time was not given so as competitive bids could be made with certainty of correct costs; that the successful tenderer did not deposit 5 per cent. of his tender. This report also dealt with the costs of various furnaces as supplied by heating companies.

Mr. Butchart, who installed the heating system in the new school, read correspondence from Mr. H. Kingham, Building Supervisor, Dept. of Education, Edmonton. The letter commented both on the installation

Beauties With Their Beasts

Just another beauty and the beast picture, but the beasts are overshadowed by the beauties in this display of feminine and pachydermic pulchritude. The girls hail from three nations, Canada, the United States and Great Britain, and the handsome elephants were acquired by them during a visit to Ceylon. They are bringing them home in their baggage—pardon us, trunks, but that won't be until their world-cruise in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain is over in May. The picture was made on the boat-deck of the Empress of Britain at Colombo.

Group 3 and Group 4 of the Ladies' Aid extends grateful thanks to all those who assisted in making the daffodil tea held at the residence of Mrs. T. R. Lebeau on April 17th the success it was in every way.

In order that the Good Will messages from the school children of rural and town schools in the district be received in time for the Alberta broadcast on Good Will Day, May 18th, the students participating with messages are asked to have them reach Mrs. M. L. Todd, Vulcan, not later than May 11th.

Mrs. Van Camp of Calgary is a Vulcan visitor this week, demonstrating the Egg-O Baking Powder Company products at the Jenkins' Groceries store. Samples of cake and baking made with the product are being sampled by customers. A similar demonstration was recently conducted at the McLaggan and Manson store by the Standard Brands.

A good crowd attended the meeting of Vulcan women, for the purpose of establishing a Ladies' Social Credit group in town, on Monday evening. It was agreed to form a Social Credit group and the following officers were elected: Mm. Aberhart, honorary president; Miss Mae Morley, president; Mrs. J. Hunter Jr., vice-president; Mrs. Roy Lilly, secretary. It was resolved that meetings of the group be held in the Social Credit rooms on Monday of each week.

Last week a change was made in the canopy attached to the Regal Oil Service Station, operated by Roy Downing. Some time ago the canopy was torn from the building when a large truck passed beneath it. It was repaired at the time but the Town Council objected to the part overhanging the roadway as being a nuisance. At a recent council meeting an agreement was reached with the Regal Oil Company, and the change made. The part extending over the driveway was cut off.

The Vulcan Anglican Young People's Association are planning a young people's rally to be held in the Memorial hall on Thursday, May 2nd. This will terminate an active season in every department of their work. Members of the Calgary, Lethbridge, Macleod and Taber associations are being invited. Bishop Sherman of Calgary will be a speaker during the evening. The Vulcan group are planning a full evening of entertainment for their guests, including the presentation of their drama festival entry, "Greener Grass." Dancing will follow the entertainment with music by Len Davis.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Offices of the Town of Vulcan have changed location from the municipal building to the old Shimp Land Company office opposite the Vulcan theatre. The building was repaired last week, and the move made during the week end. The move necessitated the building of desks, council table, and other office fixtures. Painting is this week being done to the interior. Floor cloth has been laid, and the new town office presents a nice appearance. Secretary-treasurer, A. J. Flood, had the office open for business as usual on Monday morning. The telephone number is 22.

During the week end past, seeding operations started in the Vulcan district. A good start was made at the work before it was delayed by rain and sleet on Tuesday. The operations were stopped by the moisture about noon on that day. Heavy rains fell through the afternoon in portions of the territory. Wednesday was bright with sunshine and the moisture dried up enough to allow seeding operations to go ahead. Seeding should be general by Friday or Saturday.

Easter holidays passed quietly in Vulcan. The week end holiday brought the usual quota of visitors to town, and many visited away from home. School students had a short holiday this year and recommenced their studies on Tuesday morning. All Vulcan churches held special services in celebration of the sacred day and special music was a feature of the services. Monday was "dead" as far as business was concerned, all the stores were open, just the bank and post office being closed, and the stores played to small business for many were the number that journeyed to Calgary to witness the Boy Scouts' Jamboree.

If J. Holoboff had been present at the Vulcan theatre during the bank night draw he would have been the lucky winner of the $10.00 cash prize on Tuesday evening. The ticket number 105, registered under his name was drawn from the tub by little Miss Lorna Robson. Mr. W. E. Butchart officiated at the draw. This $10.00 prize will now be carried over until the next bank night, and will be combined with the prize on that evening, making the total $20.00. There will be no bank night at the local theatre on next Tuesday, due to the presentation of the Vulcan Dramatic Society play, "Polishing Papa." Next bank night will be on Tuesday, May 7th. Besides the regular picture programme on Tuesday, Manager Robson had the Len Davis orchestra give a stage presentation. The picture programme was very entertaining; Shirley Temple in "Baby Take a Bow" and included a splendid selection of short subjects. The building was packed for both the 7:30 and 9:30 shows. The week end programme will feature Johnny Weissmuller in "Tarzan and His Mate," a new Tarzan talkie.

Funeral services were held from the St. Aldhelm's Anglican Church, Vulcan, on Wednesday, April 24th, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. V. E. Smith officiating. Interment was made in the Vulcan cemetery with the Snodgrass Funeral Home on charge of arrangements.

NEWFOUND COMMISSIONER

Hon. Sir John Hope Simpson, leading the newly appointed Newfoundland Commission, was among distinguished British passengers aboard the Albatross which called at Halifax last week-end. Sir John is proceeding to St. John's.

DEATH FOR THEFT

James Trout, of Indianapolis, shown in court at Louisville, Ky., recently, when he was sentenced to death in the electric chair for stealing $433. The jury convicted Trout of the crime in two hours and 23 minutes and the death sentence immediately followed. Trout was the first man tried in Louisville under the new Kentucky statute imposing the death penalty for armed robbery.

Peter Terry, Former Resident, Dies

One of the oldtimers of the district and a resident of Vulcan for many years, Peter Ira Terry, aged 63 years, died in Calgary on Tuesday, April 16th, following a lengthy illness. For the past several years he has been a resident in Turner Valley, employed by the McLeod Oil Company as an engineer. He was born at Brighton, Ontario, in 1872 and came west to Alberta in 1898, settling in the district, where he homesteaded. Later he moved to Vulcan where he was employed in the old Vulcan Light and Power Company plant as engineer. In 1927 he moved to Turner Valley and since that time has been a resident there. He was a member of the Vulcan Lodge, A. F. & A. M. whose members travelled en masse to attend the funeral services at Okotoks on Monday. Services at the graveside were conducted by the lodge members.

Mr. Terry is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mrs. W. Mason and Mrs. L. Young, Turner Valley, and Mrs. T. Fenton, Islay, Alta.; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. Pocock from the United Church, Okotoks, on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Members of the Vulcan Masonic Lodge acted as pallbearers. Interment was made in the Okotoks cemetery with Masonic ritual graveside services. The Snodgrass Funeral Home had charge of the arrangements.

Young Life Taken By Death

Former schoolmates and citizens of Vulcan and surrounding districts were saddened to hear of the death of Miss Violet Ada Tinkess, aged 21 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Tinkess, who died at the Vulcan Municipal Hospital on Wednesday evening, April 17th. Death followed an illness of six days, with pneumonia, influenza being the contributory illness.

Miss Tinkess was born at Stavelly in 1913. She attended the Prairie Valley public school near Stavelly. In 1928, she moved with her parents to Vulcan, where she completed her education at the Vulcan High School. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

She is survived by her parents; seven sisters, Mrs. Wm. Penn, Mrs. Reg. Sansome of Vulcan, Mrs. Donald Perrott, Mrs. Les Sparks of Stavelly, and Grace, Mabel and Donna, all residing at home. One brother, Nelson, at home, also survives.

Funeral services were conducted from the Church of Christ on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. E. G. Hansell officiating. Interment was made in the Vulcan cemetery with the Snodgrass Funeral Home in charge of the arrangements.

THE PENDULUM SWINGS

A year ago this time, the World Wheat Agreement was the major topic of discussion, and restriction of production was the cry. Two years ago hog prices were at such low ebb, that animals sold below cost of production. Last year the situation amongst cattle ranchers was desperate, and though a few far sighted stockmen foresaw that there might be a shortage of livestock in the United States, there was no definite assurance of better prices.

The present improved prices are most gratifying, although they may have been achieved only through the misfortune of others. But one curious phase of the situation is that none of the experts and commissions were able to forecast the future. The men who sit in the conning towers, surveying developments and charting ahead, seem to have very little advantage over the man on the ground. It is not through management or intelligent direction or far-sightedness that prices change for better or worse, but apparently because nature interposes in some fashion. Man's wise moves may become foolish moves and foolish moves may take on the dignity of wisdom. It just so happens, and the primary producer seems as far away as ever from solid security. He must accept better prices with thankfulness and caution, because no one seems able to forecast or control the next swing of the pendulum.

The changing situation—even though it may be temporary—supports the contention of the practical farmer that the "in and out" cannot make livestock pay. He must reckon in ten year periods, and estimate on the average. He must be prepared for low prices, and conserve during periods of good prices. Too great expansion is as dangerous as the "in and out" policy, and caution is the major lesson of the past few years.

The farmer's life is a matter of ups and downs. Eight months ago, he would scarcely have believed that Canadian cattle could pour over the U. S. boundary line, bringing profits despite the tariff. In Eastern Canada the price of horses has unaccountably risen. The price of wheat has been rising, though whether the rise is soundly based is another question. Such changes in values from year to year, even from month to month, are at once the despair and hope of an agricultural population and all those dependent on agriculture.

THE KING'S GRACE

A recent book written by John Buchan, the future Governor General of Canada, has a double value for Canadian readers. It conveys the quality of the man who is shortly to be the Royal representative in Canada, and it records the reign of King George V from 1910 to 1935. The title is "The King's Grace" and the book is not so much a biography, as an interpretation of the Throne as a continuing, vital force, during a period of unprecedented changes. In his prologue he suggests the trend of thought throughout the succeeding chapters. "In the last two hundred years, while the Throne has lost its definable powers, it has gained in significance. It is the mystical centre of national union, and the point round which coheres the nation's sense of a continuing personality."

"The Throne has altered in other things besides constitutional practice and has come closer to the lives of the citizens. The office has come into the light of day without losing traditional glamour. Its dignity has not declined, but affection has been joined to reverence. There is nothing quite like the status of our Crown in the modern world and I cannot find any close parallel in history. The King is of no class, being above classes. He is as much akin to the laborer in the field as to the highest nobility. He can have no party bias, because his only bias is toward the whole people. His duty is not to act but to be to represent the ultimate sanctities of the land which endure behind passing fevers and bewilderments."

"But the pedestal on which the King is placed is also a watch tower. Having the whole people in his care, and having no prejudice of class or dogma or party, he is concerned only with profounder movements of national destiny."

"So in this year of the King's Silver Jubilee, I have tried to present the spectacle of his reign, with the Throne as the abiding background—such a spectacle as might be viewed from a high tower, and to attempt what interpretation of its significance is permitted to one who is himself a dweller in the confused lowlands."

SOCIAL CREDIT

The Hanna Herald, in common with many other Alberta weeklies, has been wrestling with the problem of Social Credit and finding in it no solution of our current disabilities. In the last issue, the editor replies to a correspondent who approaches the subject from the attitude of the city man, talking of man-displacing machinery, the need of leisure and similar problems typically urban.

The editorial states: "We would tell the supporters of Social Credit that the quickest way to restore prosperity, is to get buying power onto the farms, or at least a parity of prices between farm products and manufactured goods. Once that is done, farm people will buy and there will be plenty of employment. Cities develop as accessory to the farms, which hold the basis of wealth, but through the accumulation of wealth and power, the cities become the masters of the farm people."

"Social Credit might work in a nation with a well balanced economy, but its supporters fail to realize that in Canada, and in Western Canada particularly, our principal occupation is agriculture. These people talk of industry when we have very few industries worth the name. Most of them are parasitical, unable to meet world competition and asking exorbitant prices for their products behind a tariff wall. This country would be much happier and more prosperous if we had not gone ahead crazily building up uneconomic industries, bringing in immigrant workmen to populate cities, the support of which is too heavy for the basic industry of agriculture. The solution for greater prosperity lies in a parity of prices which must inevitably come."

"Of course the Aberhart Social Credit school says that the rest of the population will bonus agriculture. But agriculture in this province in normal times produces three quarters of the total wealth, the balance being distributed between mining, lumbering, manufacture and power production. How can 25 per cent. bonus 75 per cent? How can the tail wag the dog?"

"All this talk of machinery replacing man power, as far as Alberta is concerned, is far-fetched. We still see plenty of work for farmers and families to do—no eight hour day for them. Farmers are the most efficient and hardest worked of all classes of our population, and they can produce plenty of food cheaply. It is not their fault that they cannot buy cheaply—that is the other fellow's fault. What amazes us is that this is not clear to the eyes of the rural population."

SELLING SETTLEMENT

Brigadier General Hornby is continuing his advocacy of a land settlement plan by which carefully selected British settlers, financed by the British Government would be encouraged to come to Canada. He places the "selling of settlement" plan on the same basis as the selling of wheat, lumber and other produce to the United Kingdom. Settlement, he says, is made up of land which we have plenty of; of houses and buildings, which are made of Canadian material; of foundation livestock raised in Canada and of all manner of goods manufactured in Canada. What is the difference between selling these goods in the form of the settlement that Britain needs, and selling them direct?"

The whole development of Canada, he argues in the matter of railways and other transportation facilities, in the matter of public works and public services, has been designed for a much larger population than is at present carrying the load of taxation. The larger population, he feels could be secured without jeopardizing the present Canadians, by presenting a scheme of settlement to the British Government, which has available three million pounds annually (from 1922 to 1937) for promoting overseas settlement.

Farmers, he states, need not fear any surplus of production from these settlers for some years, and he points to the figures showing the export of farm products (aside from wheat) to be less than 5 per cent. All the rest is consumed domestically.

Properly organized and financed settlement would, says General Hornby, give impetus to manual labor, to manufacture, to building, to sale of Canadian livestock, and to every phase of Canadian activity. It would also bring up the population more nearly to the need of the present costly facilities, and would scatter the grievous burden of taxation.

SPIRIT THAT CONQUERS

The Milverton Sun of Ontario, pays the following tribute to the dauntless spirit prevailing in certain parts of the West: "It is a great spirit that obtains in the drought ridden areas of the West. At Bergheld, south-west of Weyburn, the farmers unable to get further help from the Department of Education or from the municipal council were not daunted in their effort to educate their children. An 'emergency meeting' was called and one farmer offered to donate his granary for a teacherage. Others volunteered to plaster it, whitewash it, put windows in and equip it from the meagre supplies of their homes. A teacher was engaged and sustained out of their respective food supplies and school is going on. There are many like instances in these days of difficulty. Their churches are kept up the same way. Ministers are cheerfully living on less than half their salary in manses and parsonages segregated in one or two rooms to save fuel expenses and are ministering to their flocks without thought of further comfort or remuneration, bringing sweetness and light into homes where there is not for these ministrations might come gloom, discouragement and despair. It is hard to discourage a people used to vicissitudes. Such determination is bound to bring its reward."

REHABILITATE THE WEST

There can be no difference of opinion on the danger of soil drifting, and the extending area affected by soil erosion. Even in this district which is as yet only on the outskirts, the effect of soil drifting is visible to anyone travelling the country roads, and there is a tremendous area in the southern part of the Canadian West very seriously menaced."

A bill to provide rehabilitation of drought and soil drifting areas has passed the Senate, and recommends the spending of from $750,000 to $1,000,000 annually for a specified period. Western Senators spoke at length in support of the measures.

Senator Riley's opinion was given in last week's Times. It will be recalled that he did not consider reforestation to be a solution, for the reason that trees require moisture, and unfortunately this is absent in the areas where reforestation is suggested. Senator Meighen also held this opinion. If conducted on any large scale it would be of immense cost, and problematical success.

Senator Buchanan, speaking on the question, emphasized the almost immeasurable loss to railways, elevators, mortgage companies and all Canadian industries, if no effort were made to reclaim the soil drifting lands. He also corrected the popular fallacy that conditions were more or less alike across the prairie.

This fact is one of the most important with which the commission has to deal. It is known that even within a small radius of miles, soil conditions vary and even the direction of menacing winds vary. Two farms lying side by side may be differently affected. For this reason the necessity for zoning is clear; also advice from practical farmers who have fought this menace with a considerable degree of success. Scientists and theorists, unless thoroughly familiar with the West, might well fall into costly error, lacking the balance of practical experience.

Senator Riley's suggestion that lands have been cropped which are fit only for grazing, has application to quite an area of the southern prairie, and it is conceivable that some of this land will be returned to grazing. It is a situation which calls undoubtedly for the healing treatment of nature, for reduced wheat acreage and a gradual return to the soil of its natural fibre.

The Vulcan Social Credit group is changing the night of its meeting from Tuesday to Thursday every week. Meetings are held in the club rooms of the group.

Chevrolet Trucks Now on Display

Above is pictured the Chevrolet 1 1/2 ton Panel Body Truck, one of the commercial models of various stake and farm-type bodies. Chevrolet's truck line is being featured this season by Arme Motor, Vulcan and district dealers, who have at the present time a 1935 model Maple Leaf two-ton truck on display in their showrooms.

Former Vulcan Citizen Passes

Mrs. Mildred Jean Shriver, nee Mildred MacPherson, died at St. Joseph Hospital, Tacoma, Washington, on Monday, April 8th, after an illness of four weeks. She will be remembered by old timers of the district as being a resident from 1904 until 1928. Mrs. Shriver was born at Fernie, B.C. on November 22nd, 1903. Since leaving the Vulcan district she has been a resident of Tacoma. Interment was made at the Mausoleum Tacoma on April 11th at 1:30 o'clock. She leaves to mourn her death, her husband and two children living at Tacoma, her mother at Spokane, three brothers, William and George of Oakland and Kenneth of Spokane.

KIRKCALDY NOTES

Mrs. P. Patterson of Champion is a holiday visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Maisey.

Miss Elva Mallory is spending her holidays at the home of her father, Grant Mallory.

Several farmers have started seeding, and if weather permits, seeding will be general this coming week.

Master Bobbie Saunders, Master Billie Saunders, represented Kirkcaldy district at the Scout Jamboree in Calgary Monday evening.

Among those who attended the big Scout Jamboree in Calgary Monday, were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Saunders and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lawrie and family and Mr. A. J. Maisey.

A well attended Social Credit meeting was held in the school house Monday evening. Rev. P. Dawson of Champion, was the speaker of the evening, giving a very interesting account of the Social Credit convention held in Calgary recently. At the close of the meeting lunch was served to those in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Deman were week end visitors in the Huxley and Drumheller districts. While in Drumheller, a visit was paid to amateur radio station VE1LE owned by Mac McIntyre. Two-way wireless phone communication was carried on with amateur stations in Australia, Hawaiian Island and Bermuda on the 75 meter band.

The writer, speaking as a father of one of the Cub Scouts wishes to thank all those who made it possible for the boys to be taken to Calgary, and especially to Mr. Doney, the local Cub Master, who gave his time unsparingly to see that the young Cub Scouts were fed, kept together, etc. The Scout Jamboree was well worth attending and will certainly be ever remembered by all those who took part in the magnificent display at which Lord and Lady Baden Powell were the guests of honor.

COOTE WOULD MAKE SCRIP LEGAL MONEY

Hoping to remove the statutory obstacle standing in the way of use by provinces or municipalities of scrip money to deal with internal economic difficulties, G. G. Coote has given notice of a bill to strike out section 138 of the act respecting banks and banking.

Section 138 provides a fine of $400 as penalty for any person or body issuing and circulating a substitute for money.

Mr. Coote's idea is the use of a stamp scrip similar to that initiated a few years ago in the town of Woergal in Austria. There it proved a great success until it was prohibited because of its conflict with the money issuing powers of the Austrian National Bank.

The scrip suggested would be kept within the boundaries of the municipality or province issuing it and would be good for one year providing a stamp was fixed on the first day of each month by the person then holding the note. The necessity of fixing stamps on the first of each month would provide the spending impetus to keep the scrip in circulation. It would be exchanged each year for a new note.

Net profits of the Imperial Oil Limited in 1934, were $28,771,653 compared with $14,101,561 in 1933. Net income from Canadian refining and marketing was $9,929,977 and from this the sum of $6,223,506 was appropriated for depreciation.

CLIPPINGS FROM OTHER WEEKLIES

They Didn't Know Him
A Toronto knight says that he never heard of John Buchan, the great British historian and author who has recently been appointed Governor-General of Canada. We wonder where this belted knight has been living all these years as we did not think that there lived in the realm a man possessed of common knowledge that did not know of John Buchan.—Milverton News.

More Gunpowder
The game of bridge, we are told by the Advocate of Pictou, N.S., "is a four-sided epidemic which hits a man and his better half in the middle of their otherwise peaceful domesticity and scatters it all the way from Dan to Beersheba. It is a game played by four rabid fanatics with 52 perverse cards, and undoubtedly has been the cause of more family trouble than hooch, the eternal triangle and mothers-in-law combined. The game was invented by the Chinese, who also discovered gun powder, and it is still a question which is the most dangerous."—Hanover Post.

Sugar Tax Brings Sugar
The tax of two cents a pound brought in to June 30, 1933, no less a sum than $17,149,159 over seventeen millions of dollars and from July 1st 1934 to February 28 last, on a tax of one cent a pound the further sum of $7,517,851, or over seven and a half millions. Thus the Bennett Government extracted from those who used sugar in their tea or in other ways, no less a sum than $24,667,010, or over twenty-four and a half million dollars.—Eastern Chronicle.

Stranded on Way

ABOVE: Mr. Walsh and his 1934 model Maple Leaf Heavy Duty Truck, photographed just after arriving at Sault Ste. Marie. Said Mr. Walsh "It was the extra torque in my Maple Leaf that pulled me out of holes and through drifts that had other trucks stopped."

NO silk hats await the truck drivers who open up "spring navigation" along Canada's highways and byways. But just as exciting as any sailor's yarn are the feats some of these men can tell about. Take the case of S. J. Walsh of the Bluebird Orchards, for example. Defying March snow, ice and floods, he started out for Sault Ste. Marie from Newcastle, Ontario—a trip of more than 600 hazardous miles. Fifty-six barrels of apples were on the platform of his Maple Leaf heavy duty truck, yet the powerful two-tonner made the grade all the way in "apple pie" style. He didn't stop for even a minor adjustment. He didn't add any oil to the crankcase—it didn't need it. He got exceptional mileage to the gallon of gasoline.

Drop in at our showrooms today. Get the facts about Maple Leaf Heavy Duty Trucks—facts which prove that breaking records, like making profits, is all in the life of a Maple Leaf Truck owner. Low delivered prices and easy GMAC terms.

CARD OF THANKS

HEALTH UNIT IS NOW SEEING RESULTS

Dr. McGugan of the Department of Public Health, gave significant information at the meeting of the Health Unit Board held last week. He referred particularly to the matter of communicable diseases in the districts under the Full-time Health service. This phase of preventive care, is being very closely checked by the department, as one of the most obvious and immediate benefits to be realized. And it is gratifying to note, said Dr. McGugan, that the two Health Units of Red Deer and the Foothills, compare most favorably in control and prevention of communicable diseases with other areas of the province without similar service. Comments on other features of the unit were of an interesting nature, as indicating the values received in many phases of preventive care. Details of the financial statement prepared at the Department of Health and presented by Dr. McGugan reported the probability of a balanced budget by the end of the Unit year, May 31, 1935.

Dr. W. G. Saunders, M.O.H., gave a complete quarterly report, which was adopted as given. He referred also to the necessity for the change of Sanitary Inspector, Mr. Butterfield's services were required by the Department of Public Health, and Mr. K. G. Watson had been appointed as his successor, subject to the approval of Board members. This approval was given.

Those present at the meeting were Dr. McNichol, chairman; F. L. Watt, secretary; E. King of Vulcan; J. A. Schmidt, Blackie; H. Denning of M. D. of Stockland; F. Bennett of M. D. of Stockland; H. F. Spencer of Parkland Consolidated school district; Dr. McGugan of Dept. of Health; Dr. Saunders of the Health Unit; Colonel McGregor and Miss Chapman of T.V. school district.

BAR ALIEN VOTE IN CIVIC ELECTIONS

An amendment to the Town and Village Act was adopted by the Legislature providing that aliens be barred from voting in town or village elections for Mayor and Councillors. In submitting the amendment, Hugh Farthing, M.L.A., declared that it was time those responsible for handling affairs of municipalities were naturalized British citizens.

LOCAL ITEMS

Next Sunday morning Mr. Hansell speaks at the Church of Christ on "The Man God Tried to Kill" and in the evening "Elijah" or "Blue Monday".

Last Thursday evening the Church of Christ choir rendered their Easter Cantata "The Promise of Easter" to a capacity audience. Special music augmented the Cantata. Mr. Pedersen played a violin solo and an instrumental trio was played by the McPherson sisters. Miss Hartwig and Bill Walker sang solos and were also special Easter soloists in the Cantata. The choir is under the direction of Mr. H. Weal and Miss Beulah Walker is the pianist. A social half hour was spent by choir and orchestra at which tea was served by the ladies of the church. The Cantata was repeated on Friday evening.

The meeting of the Berrywater U. F.W.A. postponed from April 10th, was held at the home of Mrs. D. Sinclair on April 17th, with five members and three visitors present. In absence of the president, Mr. H. Amey presided. Routine business was dealt with. As in former years $5.00 was voted to the fund for the Farm Young People's University week in June. A well prepared paper on Home Economics was delivered by Mrs. V. Adair, followed by an art demonstration by Miss J. Sinclair. Following the meeting, the hostess served lunch. The next meeting of the local will be held at the home of Mrs. Adair on May 8th.

The Dominion Markets Supervisor at the Alberta Stockyards, Calgary, D. A. MacKenzie, thinks the Nanton-Claresholm constituency needs better brood sows on a good many farms. Feed conditions may have a good deal to do with it but does not fully explain why out of 779 breeding gilts sent out from Calgary under the Brood Sow Policy of the Dominion Live Stock Branch in 1934 only 23 went into Nanton-Claresholm constituency. More interest has developed since but surely there is room for a few groups of several farmers taking 20 select gilts at market price along with a pure bred boar, free of charge, delivered with half freight paid to destination.

WHEN THE PAPER DOESN'T COME

Father says that the paper that he reads ain't put up right; He finds a lot of fault, too, he does, perusin' it all night; He says there ain't a single thing in it worth to read. And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need; He tosses it aside and says it's strict-on the bum, But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He is always first to grab it and he reads it plumb clear through; He doesn't miss an item, or a want ad—that is true; He says they don't know what we want, the darn newspaper guys; "I am going to take a day some time and go and put them wise; Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb," But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come!

Much heated discussion followed the reading of the reports, and several times flare-ups of temper was evident. Following the discussion, it was moved by Mr. H. J. Mabey and seconded by Mr. W. Peterson, that the reports be filed in the archives of the Vulcan School District, and that a vote of confidence be given the School Board and contractor who installed the furnace, also that a vote of thanks be given the investigating committee for their reports. The motion carried with an unanimous feeling.

Mr. W. E. Butchart brought forward the matter of charges made in connection with the issue by the Vulcan School District of debentures to the amount of $3,500.00 in 1931. He spoke on the legality of obtaining the debentures, and read a letter from the Board of Public Utility Commissioners clearing up the matter. The debenture was approved by the Board under Order No. 6403, at that time, the letter stated. The Board was fully informed of the purpose of, and the circumstances surrounding the issue.

Paraphrasing World Events

There will always be disturbances inside our penitentiaries; so long as there are newspapers and members of parliament, as well as Communist orators raising disturbances outside. By grape-vine telegraph, the inmates are kept informed of what is going on outside, and in some way they manage to communicate with a few mushy members of parliament and jittery editors who have a sentimental notion that love and kindness would transform the penitentiaries if administered in sufficient quantities. The Department of Justice cannot afford to appoint one of them as Warden to try out the experiment. If it were tried, the first transformation would be in the new warden.

He would soon learn that firmness in discipline and punishment of incorrigibles are as necessary as love and kindness in the administration of penal institutions. The public may be assured of this that no inmate who obeys the rules will ever have cause to complain of severity on the part of the warden and guards who are only too pleased to be relieved of the necessity of applying punitive measures. Their duties would be lightened if the sentimental busybodies outside would cease offering aid and comfort to the incorrigibles inside.

Of the eleven million bushels of wheat entering France in 1934, Canada supplied more than nine million.

Mr. Luckovitch, M.P. has introduced a bill making it a criminal offence to slander or libel a race or nationality. It's no use. By the way, did you hear that one about the Scotsman who—?

S. W. Foss Revised

I live in a house by the side of the road in the good old days gone by. It was jolly fine, as the poet said, till the evil days came'nigh, Then depression came and the wayfarers came and made my place their abode, Till they ate me out of the house and home that I had built by the side of the road.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen characterized Mayor McGeer's financial proposals as, loose, livid lunacy. (Some newspapers quoted it incorrectly as lucid, livid, lunacy). The Vancouver man instantly challenged him to a debate, and the Montreal Gazette's heading on this bit of news was "McGeer wants his Lunacy Debated."

In the House of Commons the Speaker ruled "guts" out of order and the offender substituted with permission "intestinal fortitude." The word "guts" was used by Lady Astor, M.P., in the Imperial House and she was not called to order for it. It may be vulgar but it expresses courage to do or dare, and that is what the offender had in mind. Fortitude means courage to endure hardship or adversity.

Ludendorff proclaims himself a heathen and blames Christianity for his defeat in 1918. When for three years they were scoring victory after victory, the Kaiser had no doubt as to which side the German Gott was on.

Instead of arresting priests and parsons, in Germany, the Nazis take them into "protective custody." It's a more euphonious term but the effect is the same. The Nazis in their attitude toward religion are rapidly becoming like the Bolsheviks whom they despise.
